Distillery's visitor center is a dazzling experience

By Chris Hamilton
Publisher

Fred Cubberly grinned from ear to ear as he sampled Wild Turkey's Kentucky Spirit in the distillery's tasting room Friday. His bliss wasn't born entirely from the bourbon. He'd only had an ounce or two. It was born out of the pleasure of simply being at Wild Turkey in Lawrenceburg.

"I've always wanted to come to this distillery," Cubberly said. "I get to meet so many master distillers but that Jimmy Russell (Wild Turkey's master distiller for nearly 60 years) is the best. Bourbon Country is a fantastic place with fantastic people."

Cubberly, who lives near Dayton, Ohio, would know. His fascination with "brown liquor" has led him all over the world. He's visited nearly 100 distilleries in the U.S., Canada and Scotland.

But last week, his fascination brought him back to the hallowed ground of Kentucky, where about 95 percent of all bourbon whiskey is produced.

This is great for Lawrenceburg and for Lawrenceburg businesses.

— Anderson County Judge-Executive John Wayne Conway

It was a busy day for Wild Turkey. The flow of traffic to the visitor center was steady with people from all over the world, including a stop by U.S. Congressman Andy Barr with a busload of legislators touring a bit of the Kentucky Bourbon Trail.

The traffic should grow significantly this year. Yesterday, Wild Turkey officially launched its new visitor center, a visual and experiential treat for tourists, bourbon aficionados and just about anybody interested in learning about the spirit that's distinctive to this nation.

"I am very excited about the investment in tourism at the City Council discusses process on equalization basin project

By Shelley Spillman
News Editor

An update on the equalization basin project and a recommendation for a zoning change to a property within city limits were the major line items on the Lawrenceburg City Council agenda Monday night.

The Equalization Basin Project has been an ongoing project for more than a year to create a concrete basin to hold runoff rainwater near the city's wastewater treatment plant. As previously reported in The Anderson News June 12, 2013, the plant processes around 1.8 million gallons of water per day but it can reach an average of 10 million gallons of water per day during wet weather conditions. That is about 1 million gallons more than the maximum allowed for the plant. The new equalization basin will be able to hold 2 million gallons to help keep the treatment plant from reaching the maximum levels of water. In December 2013, The Anderson News reported that the council unanimously accepted a $1.2 million bid from Hubert Excavating of Salvisa for the equalization basin project.

Currently, Larry Hazlett, public works director, said Hubert Excavating is tentatively scheduled to begin dynamiting the rock Friday or Saturday to start the building of the pump station for the equalization basin.

The council unanimously voted to deny the Lawrenceburg/Anderson County Joint Planning Commission's recommendation to rezone the property located in 400 block of South Main Street from an R2 two family residential to a B3 Highway Service Business. Mayor Edwinna Baker said the council decided to deny the recommendation because the property is not located along a bypass or a highway, which is what B3 zoning necessitates.

Ed Ruggles, whose family owns the property, said the business was incorrectly given the zoning code of an R2 two family residential, which made it impossible to have the property appraised. Ruggles brought the issue to the Joint Planning Commission and, during a public hearing Jan. 14, the property was given the recommendation to be rezoned as a B3. The decision was passed to the city council for final approval.

Ruggles said he was okay with the B3 zoning and that he didn't understand the hold-up.

"I'd just really like some action on this. I'd hate for it to be delayed any longer," Ruggles said.

Members of the council discussed that they felt the zoning change of a B2 general business district would have been more appropriate than a B3 but the council could only

Beshear signs bill banning sale of e-cigarettes to children

Calling the measure a big win for efforts to reduce tobacco use in the state, particularly among young people, Gov. Steve Beshear signed Senate Bill 109 into law, banning the sale of all types of e-cigarettes to minors.

Beshear specifically urged legislators to pass the bill during his State of the Commonwealth in January and identified the effort as a key part of his legislative agenda.

"We have the highest rates of youth smoking in the country," Beshear said. "And we know that if we can keep our children from trying cigarettes - including e-cigarettes - before the age of 18, they are significantly less likely to become smokers later in life."

SB109 prohibits the sales of all types of e-cigarettes to minors, regardless of whether the devices use nicotine. Food and Drug Administration testing found that a number of e-cigarettes sold as "nicotine-free" contained the drug and the largely unregulated nature of e-cigarette products creates enforcement issues around youth access for state agencies, retailers, school districts and parents.

From 2011 to 2012, the percentage of all youth in grades 6-12 who tried e-cigarettes doubled. The majority of youth who have used e-cigarettes also smoked conventional cigarettes.

The goal to reduce Kentucky's smoking rate by 10 percent over the next five years is one goal of Beshear's initiative, kyhealthnow, which aims to reduce Kentucky's dismal health rankings and habits through goals and strategies related to seven areas that include obesity, cancer and health insurance.

Swendsen was schooled until age 14 and grew up around horses. "I've been riding on this land since I was two," said Swendsen. "I had more freedom than most kids my age."

She recalled the gentle mare Gailsee she used to fall asleep on as small child.

"We had a big western saddle with a horn. Mom put a pillow on the horn and I'd fall asleep on Gailsee's neck," Swendsen said.

It's not a surprise that Swendsen has an affinity for animals, her mother Susan Swendsen Harris is an animal behaviorist who takes in traumatized working breed dogs on her 30 acres in Lawrenceburg for Tier Haven Rescue.

Swendsen is very close with her mother and said she is lucky to have such a strong and compassionate female role model.

"Mom taught me about what's going on in the world. She would just tell me the truth and she didn't sugar coat things," she said.

Swendsen worked hard throughout her time at Anderson County High School to keep up her grade point average and graduated in December to help her make time to become a more desirable law school candidate.

Through the Harlan Scholarship, Swendsen was chosen out of 700 applicants for guaranteed access into pre-law school at University of Louisville in the fall.

During college preparation, advisors told Swendsen she needed more experiences to make her more well rounded. Traveling abroad was suggested, but Swendsen said she wanted to do something more unique and personal that she could use to educate others.

Swendsen, who follows social inequality and environmental issues closely, has always been passionate about the Trail of Tears. She knows a great deal about the historical event and has lead discussions about it to students in 4-H and the University of Kentucky.

"It's amazing to see how many of my peers didn't know about it," Swendsen said.

According to the Trail of Tears National Historic Trail website, the Trail of Tears occurred in 1838 when the U.S. government forcibly relocated around 16,000 Native Americans from their homelands in Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina and Georgia to Indian Territory which is the site of present-day Oklahoma. Hundreds died during the relocation process and thousands more died as a consequence of the Native Americans being removed from their homelands.

"This is a vital part of our history and if we don't learn from this we are bound to repeat it," Swendsen said.

She said the hardest part of her journey she calls "Trails and Tears Through Time" was convincing her mother that it is safe for her teenage daughter to make a more than two monthlong journey across the U.S. by herself. It wasn't an easy sell she said.

"I'm in conflict," Swendsen Harris said. "I'm so proud of her yet I'm speechless with terror."

Swendsen Harris said she read several articles on raising an independent teenager that helped her with the difficult task of letting go.

"I have to let her live journey," she said.

It's been about a year of preparation to make the trip a reality and Swendsen Harris has been beside her daughter the whole time, advising her and helping her plan the safest route.

Through recycling, Swendsen was able to save the majority of the funds for the trip. Other money came from donations and around 15 people along the route who have agreed to provide food and lodging.

The journey required a great deal of preparation. Swendsen changed her diet to cut out caffeine and junk food to make it easier to survive for two months off of soup and meals-ready-to-eat. She trained Flame by walking five miles a day regularly and taught both Rune and Flame to carry backpacks containing a week's worth of food.

Since Swendsen will be out in the elements and most likely bathing in a nearby stream, she had to create her own natural soaps, shampoos and laundry detergent to avoid polluting the land. She even created a concoction of vinegar and peppermint oil to ward off fleas and ticks.

Swendsen was so concerned about making sure her dog and horse had the proper amount of food that she forgot about making her own food until about two weeks ago. She dehydrated vegetables, ground them into a powder in a blender to create soup packets. Finally, Swendsen had to contact the state and county police where she will be passing through to alert them of her presence, and hopefully "avoid getting arrested."

Swendsen starts her journey this week. She hopes to keep her "Trails and Tears Through Time" facebook updated when she can and journal about her travels. She said she hopes what she is doing will raise awareness about the Trails of Tears and social inequality.

"I hope by doing this that maybe someone will see that they don't have to be ashamed of their Native American culture," Swendsen said. "This is an experience of a lifetime. This is will be something significant I've done that I will remember for the rest of my life."

make a decision to accept or deny the Joint Planning Commission's recommendation.

After the decision to deny to the Joint Planning Commission's recommendation, City Attorney Robert Myles explained that the council's decision made it a dead issue. He explained that if Ruggles wanted further action he would have to go back to the Joint Planning Commission and restart the zoning change process.

In other news, the council unanimously passed the 2014-01 Budget Amendment, the ordinance 2014-01 annual cost of living update to pay/classification plan which entailed placing the Cost of Living Index increase of 1.50 percent from last year in the personal policy book to reflect that increase to give an accurate pay scale for city personnel.

The spring clean-up schedule was also set for April 28-May 14.

Anderson Co. needs a bona fide tourism bureau, like, immediately

Even if you don't drink Wild Turkey or hunt wild turkey, you have to admit that the work the Wild Turkey distillery has done to increase visitor traffic to Anderson County is pretty remarkable.

This community is truly blessed with a corporate citizen that not only provides positive notoriety but also jobs and taxes. And just a few miles away is Four Roses, another great bourbon job/tax producer and tourist attraction.

As a newcomer to the area and a former tourism CEO, my first call was to the local tourism director for comments about the projected impact of the visitor center Wild Turkey officially unveiled yesterday. After all, much fanfare was planned, a visit by the governor, a reminder that Anderson County can lay claim to bourbon legend Jimmy Russell and smiles were expected all around for this illustrious moment.

What I got was a journey into the ambiguity of tourism promotion for Anderson County, particularly Lawrenceburg.

To find the local tourism director, I Googled what I suspect is a very common search for Anderson County tourism - "Anderson County Kentucky tourism." The first site that shows up is for the Anderson County Tourism Commission. Oy. The phone number didn't work, the email address bounced, practically every link went to nothing or the wrong sites. It's a disaster. One of the best examples of bad first impressions I've ever seen.

Shortly into the list of results is VisitLawrenceburgKy.com, an attractive little site but still a very bare bones effort.

It took a few phone calls to other organizations and I was finally led to David "Davie" Montgomery, a member of the local tourism commission. He's a very good-natured fellow, indeed, but has had his share of frustrations since being appointed to the commission last summer. He's a believer in the benefits but not quite sure how to get the fire lit.

It turns out there really is a commission but getting a meeting with its seven members has been a lesson in futility. There's even funding - a transient room tax collected monthly - and a budget.

Magen Hoskins, general manager of Best Western Lawrenceburg Inn, told me she's been chair and acted on behalf of the commission in regards to advertising for the past couple of years on a volunteer basis. She said that she is stepping down from that position, though.

Hoskins said there hasn't been a paid director for a few years and that most commissioner terms have expired. What seems to be lacking is a plan for moving forward. Hard to plot the course if you can't get a quorum of those who get to case votes. The last commission meeting, which was held in September 2013, had an agenda with genuine tourism-related topics but, well, that was 7 months ago.

We'll leave it at that for the moment. However, this isn't a topic we'll let snooze under a tree with no place important to go.

Anderson County is next door to the state capitol, minutes from Keeneland, Rupp Arena and Lexington, home of Wild Turkey and Four Roses, has a major thoroughfare running right through it, cool shops, great restaurants, a convention center... holy smoke, folks! Do you know how much money visitors spend in communities such as this?

Tourism in Anderson County should be a very high priority. Local businesses need it, it's good for the quality of life and overall morale in the community and, frankly, if you don't have a strong tourism and travel promotion plan these days, your neighbors will gladly slurp up your visitors with their tourism efforts.

I can assure you, it's already happening.

Being a part of the solution

Career readiness is a conscious effort and industry should engage with schools

Throughout my career as a former education reporter, I've heard many buzz words. The latest and most popular, in my opinion, seem to be "21st Century school" and "college and career readiness."

These phrases most likely have little significance for people who don't work in the education field. Without getting into the technicalities, these phrases really mean a school that is up-to-date in methods of preparing students for a career and/or college path.

When I spoke with Chris Glass, Anderson County High School principal, this week about his goals to work with local industry to provide students with tangible work experience, I immediately thought of the phrase "college and career readiness." I strongly believe that preparing the future generation to accomplish their career goals is going to take a conscious effort from both schools and local industry.

Here is why I say that. A 2013 Oxford Martin School study found that around 45 percent of American jobs are at high risk of becoming obsolete within the next two decades.

Another 2013 study by Chegg, an academic company based out of Santa Carla, Calif., conducted a survey of 2,001 students ranging in age 18-24 and 1,000 hiring managers. Fewer than two out of five hiring managers who interviewed the students felt they were ready for their career of choice.

If you are reading this and thinking, "we have to change the way we approach preparing the future generation for jobs," you are correct. Many jobs that students are being prepared for will no longer exist because of technology and industries are often complaining that young applicants do not possess the skills they seek.

Shelley Spillman
News Editor

The answer to this conundrum is so easy that it's mind blowing. Local industries need to get involved with high school students and give them real work experience where they are in an adult environment of job expectations greater than just showing up on time for their weekend job at the mall.

Local industries, if you find yourself thinking students are not prepared for job, be a part of the solution. Go to the high schools and ask how you can help. See if any of the students are interested in job shadowing, an internship, etc. Asking these questions is just the tip of the iceberg.

I saw that Anderson County Schools has a career and tech center. This is a great start and a fantastic resource for students to "try on" careers to see what fits.

Technology and the world around us is changing so much that we cannot approach education the same way we always have and expect it to work. Also, there are all sorts of career paths some of which don't require a college degree and that's OK. We need doctors, lawyers and engineers just as much as we need the postal service workers, street sweepers and trash collectors. Everybody contributes an important part to making a community run efficiently.

Really, what I'm trying to say is that no school just becomes a "21st Century school" or "college and career ready" overnight. It's an ongoing effort with fingertips placed on the living and ever-growing pulse of the job market in America.

Chamber of Commerce political forum is May 1

The Anderson County Chamber of Commerce will host a political forum for all candidates running in the May primary election Thurs., May 1, at Anderson County High School starting at 6:30 p.m.

This is not a debate. The content of each candidate's speech will be directed to the businesses and citizens of Anderson County. All candidates will be given a maximum of 4 minutes to speak.

Prior to the debate and at intermission, candidates can interact with the general public and pass out material in the foyer area.

"Part of our responsibility is to give our members and the community information to make an informative decision," said Chamber Pres. Pamela Rice Brough. "We do not and will not endorse any candidate. We do, however, try to gauge needs, interests and concerns of our businesses and community and a political forum is a tool to help facilitate that effort. It is our intent to provide a venue where candidates can get their message out to the businesses and residents of Anderson County so they can make an educated decision come election time."

It's simple. Just think local and promote local. Then sit back and watch us grow.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Glass should be reinstated as the head softball coach at high school

I am writing this letter for several reasons. Brian Glass is a friend and I am concerned about the situation that he finds himself in. Also, I am truly interested in getting some questions answered to help me better understand what is going on.

After 13 years of serving as head softball coach at Anderson County High School, Brian was told last July that he was being relieved of his coaching position. The reason he was given for this action was his brother was being promoted to principal and, if Brian was allowed to keep his job, it would be a violation of a nepotism law. Brian disagreed with this decision and it attempting to get his job back.

This entire case can be resolved by

The weather is improving but don't rush into planting just yet

I got to wear a T-shirt and shorts last week! Never mind that my legs really did look like toothpicks, color and all. Dogs were bathed, windows opened and lawn sort of mowed. Then Mother Nature got witty again and pulled us back to reality. Having grown up in Indiana, I'm used to these bipolar weather swings.

These warm days makes us want to put something in the ground. Please don't get too anxious. Unless you have a row house over your garden, do not be tempted to put any summer vegetables outside, unless you're just hardening them off to the cooler outside temperatures a few hours each day.

This is the time to prep your soil and fence in the garden. Sure you can plant cold hardy crops like lettuce, spinach, greens, turnips, potatoes and peas. Some brave folks put out their corn and beans toward the end of this month. Just no warm season crops, such as tomatoes, peppers, squash and cucumbers. We've got to wait almost a whole month before we are safe from any frosts.

I will be planting potatoes this week. Rows of mounds. I love my potatoes! I seriously don't know how anyone can eat a store bought potato after eating homegrown ones. Besides, potatoes are going to be high this year so if you've never tried your hand at it, give a go.

Seed potatoes are found at any garden center and Kennebec, Yukon Gold and Norland reds are pretty good choices for our area. If you want to grow a whole year's worth of potatoes, plan on a 50-foot row for every person in the family. Plant the seed potatoes to a depth of 3-5 inches and 10 inches apart. After they sprout up a few inches of green, lay down the newspaper and mulch on the surrounding empty soil. This will stop the weeds and retain moisture.

I've been getting a lot of pruning questions lately. So, here is a rough guide to remember. Spring bloomers should be pruned after the flowers fade. Any plants that bloom before the middle of June can be pruned after blooming. Plants that bloom after that time should be pruned in late winter.

If you're feeling a little "fruity" and want to add a little something to the lawn, why not do a strawberry tower bed? You can use stones, bricks or even that plastic roll of trim to build them. Make a circle about 6 feet in diameter. Then add your dirt to the top of the stone/brick/trim. Now put down a circle inside that one that is 4 feet in diameter. Add your dirt and start the final tower with a 2-foot diameter. Add dirt to the final layer and you are ready to plant.

Leave 6 inches between each plant and make yourself a little stepping area in each circle to reach into the top layer. You'll create new plants from runners each year so don't buy a ton of plants. They will crowd out in 2 years or so and you can start a new tower for the new plants.

I know we are all looking at a little winter damage on bushes and other plants. Some might look dead right now but give them a little time before you dig and destroy. They might just pop out of it. Wait until June before you decide to replace any established plants.

I've got a new weed killer to try this year! I'm a big fan of using apple cider vinegar outside to kill weeds and grass. My white vinegar is typically for my inside cleaning. However, I have found a weed killer recipe that calls 1 gallon of white vinegar, 2 cups of Epsom Salt and 1/4th cup of old fashioned liquid soap (no anti-bacterial stuff). Use it in a sprayer bottle to kill any weeds after the dew has dried. Just don't spray any plants you want to keep.

Now, Mother Nature is going to bring plenty of warm weather our way this year. It's just going to be a slow roll so be patient. There are plenty of outdoor chores to be done before we start our own passion of pleasure, the vegetable garden!

Just remember what the cat said when he got his tail caught in the door. "It won't be long now!"

Happy growing!

Their answer was they do not get involved in the selection, hiring and promotion of coaches. It's their opinion that these are school problems.

I also had a conversation with Anthony Hatchel about such cases. Coach Hatchell served as Athletic Director and head football coach at ACHS. Coach was well respected by his peers. After 31 years, Coach has retired. In addition to his time spent at ACHS, he also served as principal at Mayfield High School and principal at Collins High School. In my opinion, there is no one who knows the rules and bylaws of the coaching profession, as does Coach Hatchell.

Coach told us about the situation he had when he was principal at Mayfield High School. He hired his son as head baseball coach and as an assistant football coach at Mayfield High. His son was hired by the Middle School as a teacher, which eliminated any questions that the Board of Education might have as related to nepotism.

Based on information that I have been able to gather and have been told and read, it is my opinion, right or wrong, that Brian should never have been relieved of his duties and should be reinstated as head softball coach at the high school and remain a teacher at the middle school.

Conrad completes Navy basic training

Navy Seaman Recruit Cody M. Conrad, a 2013 graduate of Anderson County High School, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command in Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Conrad, son of Michael L. and Cynthia J. Conrad of Lawrenceburg completed a variety of training, which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival and shipboard and aircraft safety.

An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations." This exercise gives recruits the skills and confidence they need to succeed in the fleet.

"Battle Stations" is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment.

Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a sailor.

Shelby Co. company will close doors after 42 years

By Lisa King
The Sentinel-News

After 42 years, a long-time Shelby County company will close its doors in June because of a conflict with the building's landlord, company officials say.

Cenveo, headquartered in Texas, last year, purchased National Envelope Company, which has been located at 252 Pearce Industrial Road since 1972.

A spokesperson for Cenveo announced the plant's closing recently.

"The closing of the company is a direct result of the company's inability to negotiate acceptable terms with the building landlord, a division of Spirit Finance Corporation," wrote Kyle Marlin, Regional Director of Human Resources for Cenveo in Ennis, Texas, in a WARN ACT announcement to Shelbyville Mayor Tom Hardesty.

The closure will result in the loss of 83 jobs.

The WARN ACT, or Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act, protects workers, their families and communities by requiring most employers with 100 or more employees to provide notification 60 calendar days in advance of plant closings and mass layoffs.

Libby Adams, executive director of the Shelby County Industrial and Development Corporation, said she and her staff were shocked by the news.

"Our office is just very upset that this has happened," she said. "We hate that those people will be displaced from their jobs."

Adams said that state economic development programs are in place to assist struggling companies but National Envelope and Cenveo was not in a position to take advantage of any type of state assistance.

"If there were anything we could do to keep them here, we would be open to discussions," she said. "The state has the programs for industries that are looking at closing, and I'm not at liberty to share the background situation but they don't qualify for any of those programs."

Hardesty echoed Adams' sentiments about the closing.

"I think it's a terrible loss to the industrial community here to lose 83 jobs that affects 83 families in Shelby and surrounding counties," he said. "We hate to lose anybody here in our industrial family that provides jobs and employment opportunities for our community."

Neither Marlin nor plant manager Steven Cavell returned phone calls from The Sentinel-News seeking information on whether employees might be able to transfer to other locations.

Terri Bradshaw, communications director for the Kentucky office of Employment and Training, said employees could come into the Kentucky Career Center at 88 Brunerstown Road and apply for work.

But one has to actually be officially unemployed to apply for unemployment insurance, she said.

"As far as unemployment insurance goes, there is a waiting week period so that first week they're unemployed, they can't do anything," she said.

In the WARN announcement, Marlin noted the employment breakdown of lost as:

- Envelope machine adjusters: 35.
- Machine operator/packers: 16.
- Quality assurance: 3.
- Press people: 2.
- Material handlers: 2.
- Adjuster team leaders: 2.
- Shipping and receiving clerk: 2.
- Shipping lead clerk: 2.
- Customer service reps: 2.
- Baler: 2.
- 15 other positions: 1 each.

Adams said that the plant's closing is only the second in the county this year or last.

"Profile Pipe did shut down and they did lose two or three employees," she said. "But, other than that, we have not had any other major industries shut down, not even when things were bad. We didn't have any that closed, they found ways to make it through."

Kentucky Automotive Industry Association is launched

To make Kentucky an even more prominent automotive powerhouse, Gov. Steve Beshear is bringing together Kentucky auto manufacturers, suppliers and supporting entities to create the Kentucky Automotive Industry Association.

“The goal of the Kentucky Automotive Industry Association is to create a unified voice for an industry sector that is profoundly important to our state’s economic health and growth,” Beshear said. “The association will play a vital role in addressing the challenges, solutions and opportunities facing the industry. It will also allow us to highlight successes and elevate the state’s contributions to the global automotive industry.”

For the first time, these groups can work in concert with each other, creating a forum to share best practices and encourage meaningful dialogue and action. The association will take a leading role in creating collaborative partnerships that will advance the auto industry now and in the future, a news release from the governor’s office said.

A 12-member inaugural board of directors, consisting of industry and government leaders, will develop the association and set its strategic goals and activities. Cabinet for Economic Development Sec. Larry Hayes agreed to serve as the inaugural chair.

“Recognizing the widespread impact of the automotive industry in our state, we sought to create a platform that will further strengthen our position as a leader in the global marketplace,” Hayes said. “The Kentucky Automotive Industry Association was formed hand-in-hand with Kentucky’s auto manufacturers and suppliers. It’s a partnership that I have no doubt will create an environment in which we’ll see tangible results and continued growth for Kentucky’s economy.”

Board members include:

· Larry Hayes, secretary, Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development.

· Mike Goss, general manager for external affairs, Toyota Motor Engineering & Manufacturing North America Inc.

· Gabby Bruno, regional director for state government relations, Ford Motor Company.

· Eric Henning, regional director for state government relations, General Motors Company.

· Joe Adamcik, director of planning and strategy, AGC Automotive Americas.

· Jim Rachlin, president, Metalsa Light Vehicles USA & Australia.

· Rich Whitaker, vice president, Sumitomo Electric Wiring Systems Inc.

· Doug Cain, CEO, Mubea North America.

· Brandon Kessinger, vice president and general counsel, Akebono Brake Corporation.

· Toru (Richard) Kamioke, president & CEO, Hitachi Automotive Systems Americas Inc.

· Kurt Krug, vice president of North American human resources, INOAC.

With more than 1.2 million vehicles produced in 2013, Kentucky ranks third overall in light vehicle production and first per capita. Kentucky’s 460 motor vehicle-related establishments employ nearly 82,000 people.

In the past 5 years, nearly 300 motor vehicle-related projects have been announced statewide, representing more than 17,600 new jobs and $4 billion in new investment.

HAIDAN SIMS

Grade & School: Haidan Sims, Robert B. Turner Elementary School

Favorite Subject: Art

Favorite Musical Group: Pentatonix

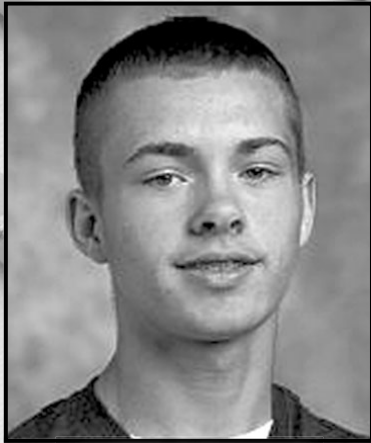

Last Book I Read: ‘Diary of a Whimpy Kid’

Last Movie I Saw: ‘The Hunger Games: Catching Fire’

Person in History I’d Most Like to Meet: Olympic gymnast Gabby Douglas

Future Plans: Interior designer

Principal’s Comments: Haidan is an outstanding student, both academically and personally. She enjoys spending time with her family. She is involved in gymnastics at Champions. Haidan is also involved in karate. Haidan represents us well as she sets a high standard of good character and good values.

JACOB DOWNING

Grade & School: Freshman, Anderson County High School

Favorite Subject: Math

Favorite Musical Group: Rush

Last Book I Read: ‘Night’

Person in History I’d Most Like to Meet: Abraham Lincoln

Future Plans: Go to Eastern Kentucky University and study fish and wildlife

Principal’s Comments: Jacob’s dedication to being a top-notch student is awe-inspiring. He is not just an excellent student, but he is also a leader within the classroom. When he finishes with his work, he helps others learn the material. There are a lot of great students at ACHS, but the ones that stand out the most as being candidates for student of the week are the ones that lead in the classroom. Jacob is certainly a leader in the classroom.

Jesus had a bride all right: the church, for which he gave his life

Well, here it is, just in time for Easter. It seems that every year around this time there is some new discovery that seemingly tries to debunk the Scriptures, distract us from the season and discredit the Gospel of Jesus Christ. This year, it is the news that an ancient papyrus fragment with words referring to Jesus' "wife" are likely authentic and not a forgery. This was the conclusion of an article in the Harvard Theological Review. It is a complex issue, beyond the scope of this article. Simply put, this really proves nothing new other than the papyrus is really, really old. Nothing about historic, biblical Christianity will change from the release of this discovery.

The Washington Post, one of the many news outlets covering this, included a quote by Jesuit priest James Martin who said "people who are quick to accept the veracity of this appear to be liberal Christians who question the veracity of other biblical accounts, including that of the Resurrection." While I would not have much in agreement with my Catholic friends, this gentleman makes a very valid point.

Brian Owens
Faith columnist

The bodily resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead is the cornerstone of Christianity. Without it, our faith can only be consigned to the dusty halls of museums alongside the many world religions. Without the literal resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead the founder of our faith is nothing more than a box of bones alongside those of Abraham, Buddha, Confucius and Muhammad. If the Lord Jesus Christ is not alive, Christianity is, as the Apostle Paul wrote in 1 Corinthians 15, a foolish, empty waste of time and we are among the most pitiful people in the world.

Theologian Henry Morris points out that "The bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead is the crowning proof of Christianity. If the resurrection did not take place then Christianity is a false religion. If it did take place then Christ is God and the Christian faith is absolute truth." Therefore, based on this truth, Jesus Christ is Lord and we must submit to His authority in all things.

Yet out of all the evidence for the literal, bodily resurrection, the most compelling is the changed life of one who has been saved by simple faith and trust in Jesus Christ alone for salvation. The apostle Paul, writing in First Corinthians 15, includes himself in the list of those who encountered the risen Christ. He goes on to say, "By the grace of God I am what I am" (v.10). This was a man who went from a persecutor of Christians to a preacher of the Gospel. Why such a striking conversion if he was not convinced that he encountered the risen Lord Jesus Christ (see Acts 9:1-9)?

Despite attempts to disparage our Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ does have a bride. Her name is the Church (Revelation 19:7; 21:9; 22:17). Scripture teaches that Christ gave His life for His bride (Ephesians 5:25) and all who trust Him by repentant faith are included therein. He died a substitutionary, atoning death to pay for her sins against a holy, just God and He was consequently raised for her justification (Romans 4:25). His resurrection was God the Father's acceptance of this sacrifice on behalf of His people.

What about you, friend? Do you trust in the risen Lord Jesus Christ alone for salvation? Do you have the hope of salvation that is provided only by a risen Savior? If not, repent and believe the Gospel today and have a blessed Easter Season!

HAVE YOU?

Have YOU received the saving Gospel into your heart? Will YOU obey it today? If you will, God will save you from your sins. You will be forgiven by the precious blood of the Lord and savior Jesus Christ (cf. Eph. 1:7).

WON'T YOU:

- BELIEVE in Jesus, the savior, the Son of God (John 8:24; Mark 16:16)?
- REPENT of your sins (Acts 2:38; 17:30)?
- CONFESS faith in Jesus as the Son of God and savior of the world (Acts 8:37; Rom. 10:9-10)?
- Be BAPTIZED (immersed) in water for the forgiveness of your sins (Acts 2:38)? When you are raised up from that watery grave of baptism you will be a new creature (creation) in Christ (Rom. 6:3-4), old things will have passed away; behold, all things have become new (2 Cor. 5:17).
- Living FAITHFUL unto the Lord all your life, you will receive "an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fades not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Peter 1:4).

BELIEVE and OBEY today. There's no other way to be saved except to believe and obey (cf. Matt. 7:21-23; James 1:22; Heb. 5:9; 1 Peter 1:22).

EMPTY SOFT DRINK BOTTLES TAKEN FROM STORES

50 YEARS AGO
Thursday, April 16, 1964

Not such a long fish tale!

Mayor John Lyons and his wife were back from a week’s fishing trip on Wolf Creek near Albany and as far as the Mayor was concerned, he should have stayed home.

He wasn’t able to catch a fish all week long, but Mrs. Lyons had pretty good luck. He cleaned her fish and put the nice fillets in one-bucket and the fish heads, scales, etc. in another bucket.

It was almost dark when he finished and he was in a hurry so he picked up the bucket of scales and heads, dumped it out in the lake and hurried back to show his wife how nice . . . fish heads and scales looked. He had emptied the wrong bucket into the lake.

Empty soft drink bottles taken

Fifteen empty cases of soft drink bottles were stolen from the porch of the Amos Baxter Store on U.S. Highway 62 some time last Thursday.

Mrs. Baxter reported the theft to Sheriff John Birdwhistell and said the thieves not only took the bottles but all the cases.

Sheriff Birdwhistell said a number of bottles and cases also were stolen from the Catlett Store at Glensboro on Highway 44 on the same night.

Due to lack of space, rural merchants often stacked the empty bottles and cases on the store porches where they could be picked up by the various trucks.

Weekend festivities planned

Final plans were shaping up for the first Anderson County Spring Festival sponsored by a number of local merchants for Friday and Saturday with special values presented on those two days.

A large parade was set to start at 10 a.m. Saturday.

There were nine contestants in the beauty contest. They were: Loretta Hupp, daughter of Mrs. Leslie Hupp; Sharon Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner; Rita Gash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Gash; Linda Lyen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lyen; Janet Crask, daughter of Mrs. Doris Crask; Rita Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lynn, Nancy Geoghegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Geoghegan; Connie Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baxter; and Judy Carlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Carlton.

Dennis injured

Wilbert Dennis suffered a severe cut on his right ankle last Saturday when an axe he was using to cut logs slipped and struck his leg. Five stitches were required to close the wound. He was treated at Springfield.

Prize catch

Gilbert Baxter was pictured holding a 10 pound, 6 ounce large mouth or black bass her caught about 6 o’clock Friday morning at Kentucky Lake. He and Gordon Jenkins caught four those monsters that weighed a total of 26 3/4 pounds. J.T. Cox said the record in Kentucky for this species was a 12-pound fish caught in Fern Lake in 1955.

Big celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Sparrow celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary with a family gathering at their home on Village Drive.

Mamie Tanner, daughter of Horace B. and Susan Cranfill Tanner, became the bride of Ezra Sparrow on April 16, 1919 at the home of the Rev. O.T. Sparrow in Lexington. The groom was a son of the late William T. and Myrtle Whitehouse Sparrow.

They lived all their lives in Anderson County and began housekeeping about two miles west of Western School. In 1953, they moved to Village Drive.

Mr. Sparrow taught at Van Buren and Johnsonville Schools and began Western High School in 1925 where he served as principal from 1933 until 1946. He served as pastor at several Christian churches, taught Sunday school and was an elder.

Bro. Ezra, as he was affectionately known, served overseas with the army and received his discharge with the rank of lieutenant just three weeks prior to his marriage to “Miss Mamie.”

Mrs. Sparrow was active in Western Homemakers Club before they moved to Lawrenceburg. Bro. Ezra was a long-time columnist for The Anderson News.

Obituaries

Back to school

There wasn’t any major change to the new school calendar but board members were considering some changes for the future.

Year-round school had been discussed, as well as a flexible-modified schedule. However, board members wanted to spend three or four months determining whether an alternative calendar (four nine week sessions with either two-week or three-week fall spring and Christmas breaks and starting the first week in August and ending in the middle of June) would be the best choice for educating children, beginning with the 2000-2001 school year.

Off to Africa

Preston, Kim and Luke Price were on their way to the mission field for a two-year stay in Africa County Malawi and town of Msuzu. They were members of the Van Buren Baptist Church.

Bourbon invitational winners

The sixth-grade Anderson county All-Stars captured the Bourbon County Invitational by beating the bourbon County Stars 45-37. Leading the way in scoring for Anderson was Philip Lloyd with 14 points, Drew Gates with 9; Lance Sutton, 6; Jared Graves, 4; and Dylan Holt, 3. Other team members helping the cause were Eric Lackey, Jimmy Durr, Johnathan White, Derrick Fawbush, Justin Abner and Coaches Eddie Hatchett and Rodney Sutton.

Part of the crew

The Anderson County School Board approved the following personnel:

· Jim Bob Crawford, part-time mowing position for the summer.

· Sheila Anglen, substitute cafeteria worker.

· Jackie Zeller, GED assistant instructor, two yours a day, two days a week; and volunteer coordinator in the Adult Education program for seven hours a week.

Wild Turkey visitor center," said Lawrenceburg Mayor Edwinna Baker. "Wild Turkey's continued investments in the facilities here at Wild Turkey Hill are not just in facilities but in the people of this area, the dedicated workers at this facility and all of our great community. Tourism on the Bourbon Trail is a great asset for economic development in our community."

Visitor traffic to the distillery is expected to reach 80,000 people in 2014. They won't be disappointed. The new visitor center is more than 9,000 square feet and its design was inspired by tobacco barns and bourbon barrel warehouses.

It features an history exhibit, a loaded gift shop, multi-purpose event space, viewing patio, a refurbished copper beer still and the Angel's Share Tasting Room.

The most notable feature could be the view. Sitting 275 feet above the Kentucky River, the center overlooks the Kentucky River Valley and the historic Youngs High Bridge.

"This will absolutely have a huge impact," said Lawrenceburg-Anderson County Economic Development Authority Executive Director George Leamon. "Wild Turkey and (owner) Campari are great corporate citizens. They have made a huge investment in our community. It's not just in the visitor center but in the bottling operation and new distillery. Their commitment to Anderson County has been unbelievable."

Since the center's soft launch in November 2013, it has already drawn an increasing number of guests. Friday, there were visitors from as far away as Brazil.

"This is great for Anderson County," said Anderson County Judge-Executive John Wayne Conway. "What Campari has done with the bottling line and this state-of-the-art visitor center is incredible. We expect to see 70,000 to 80,000 people visiting Lawrenceburg and Anderson County. It's great for Lawrenceburg and Lawrenceburg businesses."

Left, Justine Gabrysch and Rhene Garmon, both of Texas, shop for mementos. Above, Fred Cubberly of Ohio enjoys some bourbon in the Angel's Share Tasting Room.

Lady Bearcats looking like powerhouse they were expected to be on diamond

Currens belts four home runs, Curry blasts three as Anderson wins 7 of 8

By John Herndon
Sports Editor

Anderson County softball is finally living up to its lofty pre-season expectations.

Not that anything major was ever wrong with the Lady Bearcats but after a week that saw them win seven of eight games by a combined 62-12 score, Anderson is showing signs it has designs not only on an 8th Region championship but also making noise at the state tournament if the Lady Bearcats get there.

During the week, Anderson routed two 8th Region foes and knocked off 16th-ranked Boyle County in the Capital City Showcase, hosted by Franklin County. The Lady Bearcats made a statement with a resounding 10-0 mercy-rule win over district foe Spencer County last Tuesday.

"We finished as runner-up in the Franklin County Showcase," Anderson coach Brent Aldridge said. "It was a long day on Saturday. We started playing at 9 a.m. and wrapped up around 10 p.m. We played great all week-end despite having one pitcher, Mia Aldridge, a little under the weather."

Franklin took the championship of its own tournament, 2-1, to end Anderson's eight-game winning streak.

The Lady Bearcats, ranked 23rd in the state in the latest poll, now stood at 12-4 through Saturday.

In the Showcase final, Anderson saw a 1-0 lead slip away in the bottom of the sixth, when Franklin scored twice. Both teams mustered just four hits in the pitching duel between Anderson sophomore Ally Moore and Franklin County's Kara Howard.

"Ally pitched a great ball game, but we just came up a little short on the hitting department," Aldridge said. "Give Franklin County credit. They played a great ball game and have a good pitcher in Kara Howard."

Franklin was unranked in the last coaches' poll but was receiving votes for the Top 25.

Otherwise, Anderson's bats were smoking in the tournament.

The highlight of the tournament from Anderson's perspective might have been a 4-3 win over highly regarded Boyle County. The Lady Rebels were rolling along when shortstop Corrin Robinson powered a 2-run homerun, the first of her varsity career, during the Lady Bearcats' first at-bat, when they scored all four runs.

Moore got the win in the pitching circle while Currens was 2-for-2 at the plate.

The Lady Bearcats routed Boone County, 13-0 as freshman catcher Bailey Curry smacked a pair of home runs and drove in seven runs total. Sophomore Kaci Currens went 2-for-2 at the plate while Moore pitched three innings of no-hit ball before giving way to Mia Aldridge in the fourth.

Moore got another win over Bourbon County as Curry blistered Lady Colonel pitching for three hits and two RBI. Katelyn Harrod also picked up a pair of RBI and delivered a pair of hits.

The Lady Bearcats routed a pair of regional foes, Henry County and Shelby County, during the tournament.

Anderson whipped Henry 9-2 Friday as the Lady Bearcats erupted for five runs in the second inning as Alissa Vest powered a grand slam. Mia Aldridge got the win.

Saturday, Anderson defeated Shelby County for the second time this year, rolling to an 8-2 victory as Currens belted a pair of home runs and drove home four runs while Vest went 2-for-2 with a pair of RBI. Aldridge gave up one hit in four innings of work before Kasey Swails came on to finish things off.

While Anderson and Shelby are 30th District rivals, the game doesn't count in district standings.

Anderson Co. 13, West Jessamine 2

Currens belted a home run and drove in four runs as the Lady Bearcats rolled past West Jessamine, 13-2, Wednesday night in Nicholasville. Currens had two hits, as did Vest while Robinson went 3-for-3 at the plate.

Moore gave up one earned run in five innings to earn the victory.

Anderson Co. 10, Spencer Co. 0

Anderson scored in every inning as it routed district rival Spencer County 10-0 last Tuesday at home.

Anderson manufactured a run in the first when Molly Burkhead reached on a bunt single, then stole second and went to third on Robinson's sacrifice. She came home when Curry delivered a clean single to left.

Curry put Anderson firmly in control with a towering 3-run homer to right field in the bottom of the second to make it 4-0, while Currens delivered a line shot over almost the exact same spot of the fence.

The Lady Bearcats finally made it a mercy-rule game when Harrod drove in Currens with a sac fly in the bottom of the sixth.

Aldridge dominated on the mound with 11 strikeouts.

"What is there to say about Bailey," Brent Aldridge said. "If the kid will sit on good pitches, she is one of the better hitters in the state. Kaci Currens has been swinging a hot bat as well. She is another kid who could really shine this year."

Sawyer, Dennis and Royalty all have big weeks for Academy

The Christian Academy of Lawrenceburg defeated Lexington's Bluegrass Baptist, 11-4, last Thursday at Anderson-Dean Park in Harrodsburg. CAL shut the door early and scored seven runs in the first three innings, to put the game away early.

Chandler Royalty, Brady Sawyer and Ethan Gray all drove in runs during the first innin. Zach Dennis, Sawyer, and Michael Cooper added RBI in the second inning, helping the Rams take the early lead and never look back.

Dennis got the win for Christian Academy, striking out seven. Dennis tossed four innings of shutout ball, and allowed only three hits. Jacob Edwards made his first mound appearance of the year to finish the game.

CAL also hosted Danville Christian earlier in the week, winning another 11-4 decision. Danville got on the board early, scoring three runs, as Royalty struggled early to find his command after the spring break layoff and two rainouts. After CAL scored two runs in the first and one in the second, Royalty helped his own cause by hitting a towering home run over the centerfield fence, giving the Rams the lead for good. Zach Dennis and Brandon Gowan came in to pitch for two innings each, combining with Royalty for seventeen strikeouts for the game. The Rams continued to make good contact at the plate with Michael Cooper leading the way with three hits for the night.

CAL ended the week by sweeping a three-way doubleheader in Madisonville over Grace Baptist and the Academy of Individual Excellence.

In the first game, CAL and Grace exchanged the lead 5 times before CAL eventually took the lead for good and won 8-4.

Sawyer got the win for CAL, allowing four runs over three innings, striking out six, walking four and giving up two hits. Brandon Gowan came in for the final two innings, holding Grace hitless, allowing no earned runs, walked none and striking out two.

Royalty led the way at the plate, going three for three with two RBI.

In the second game of the doubleheader, CAL jumped all over AIE in the first inning plating 10 runs and adding 5 more over the next two innings. Coach Matt Sawyer quickly began to put his reserves in the game, as CAL maintained a 10-run lead for most of the game.

Dennis got the win, striking out seven, walking five, and allowing six hits.

Coach Sawyer said, "This was a good game for us, as we were able to play all of our younger players and allow them to get some game experience. Our team, from top to bottom, has worked hard, and it shows on the field."

TRACK

Sims also dominated the long jump, where her 15-06.00 leap was 4.5 inches better than second place Shonte Williams of Meade County. In the triple jump, Sims' 33-10.00 was more than a foot better Elizabeth-town's Darien Huff.

"Forty points from Alorra was big but the six from Tiffany Yount was just as big in the team picture," Brown said. Yount placed third in the triple jump.

Anderson also got a first place from eighth-grader Elle Buser in the 400-meter dash. Buser blazed at 1:00.02, more than 4 seconds in front of second-place Bailey Martin of Grayson County.

Anderson's girls also took first in the 4x400-meter relav, where their 4:37.51 was just in front of Fort Knox but also shaved more than 24 seconds off their season best.

As a team, Anderson scored 96 points, 17 better than second-place Fort Knox.

Anderson got wins on the boys' side from Tyson Yett in the boys' high jump, where he cleared 6-04, 2 inches better than his previous best this season, and in the discus throw, from Nathan McGregor. McGregor, a sophomore unleashed a 124-02 throw, more than 6 feet ahead of second-place Sheldon Jones of Grayson County and more than 10 better than his best this season.

Anderson's boys also posted three second-place finishes and six finishers in third place.

The Anderson boys scored 106 points, nine more than second-place Daviess County. Eighteen different teams scored in the event.

Overall, Anderson scored in 13 boys' and 10 girls' events.

"Hopefully this gets us some confidence headed into the Heart of the Bluegrass meet in Lexington this week-end and the regional in about a month," Brown said.

School records fall

Three Anderson County school records have fallen in the last two weeks, according to Brown.

Conner Stockton's heave of 45-11.00 placed second at Central Hardin but was the best effort ever by a Bearcat shot putter.

Buser's 1:00.02 in the 400-meter dash at Central Hardin also set a new school record, while Sims' 35-07.50 effort in the triple jump during a meet at Pulaski County on April 5 as also a best ever at Anderson.

Anderson duo named first team all state

McKee, Cann play in all-star game, try out for series

By John Herndon
Sports Editor

Anderson County High School basketball players Makenzie Cann and Eriel McKee continue to haul in the awards.

The Lady Bearcat seniors have been named to the Lexington Herald-Leader all-state first team, which was announced in Sunday's editions of that newspaper.

The voting was taken from the state's coaches.

Cann, a repeat selection to the first team, was third in the voting behind LaRue County senior Ivy Brown, the Player of the Year, and Elizabethtown sophomore Erin Boley.

Cann received two first-place votes, while McKee, who finished fourth in the voting, received one. Both Anderson stars were Miss Basketball finalists and it is believed that McKee and Cann are the first Anderson teammates to be selected first team all-state in any single-class sport.

Cann, who has signed with the University of Cincinnati, averaged 17.3 points and 5.5 rebounds during the 2013-14 season, which saw the Lady Bearcats capture their second straight Eighth Region championship.

McKee, a second team selection last year, averaged 19.4 points a game and hit better than 53 percent of her shots. A Morehead State signee, McKee ended her career as Anderson's all-time leading scorer with 2,624 points, 417 more than Cann's second-place total.

The tandem participated in the Ohio-Kentucky All-Star game, held Saturday at Thomas More College. Cann scored 5 points while McKee tallied 8, but the Ohio All-Stars overcame a four-point halftime deficit to post a 114-91 win.

Sunday, McKee and Cann participated in tryouts for the Kentucky All-Star team that will play the Indiana stars in a two-game summer series. The tryouts were conducted and final selections will be announced later this week.

Anderson County's Thomas Barrett goes high for a save during the Bearcats' win over Collins in the inaugural Anderson County Invitational Tournament on Saturday

The Anderson County boys' lacrosse team placed second in the team's inaugural invitational tournament Saturday.

Anderson defeated Collins, 10-9 in the first game of the tourney, but fell to Woodford County in the championship match.

Collins recovered to beat E-town in the consolation game.

Anderson got big tournaments from Dillon Harrod, who scored nine goals and goalie Matt Moses, who recorded 31 saves.

a total of five innings all season and pitched seven tonight. He has recovered from a little bit of a tight arm."

Eliadis helped his own cause, belting a bases-loaded triple to the right-field corner to make it 7-0 in the sixth inning. Eliadis went 2-for-3 at the plate and also laid down a sacrifice bunt to give the Bearcats a runner at second with no outs in the fifth. Anderson squandered that opportunity, though.

"Brandon had a great game offensively and on the mound," Barnes said. He took the loss last year at Spencer and he had a little bit of an inner drive to get back that loss he had last year." Eliadis got the Bearcats going with a leadoff single in the first. Courtesy runner John Paul Garmon went to third when Spencer botched a pickoff attempt and the throw ended up in the Anderson bullpen. Garmon came home when Baker singled to center.

Anderson scored another unearned run in the second when Josh Brown reached on an error and came home when Max Crabtree got on due to another Spencer miscue. The Bears committed five on the night.

The Bearcats put things away in the sixth, stringing together five straight hits, capped by Eliadis' triple. "Our guys really executed in the sixth," Barnes said, "then Brandon got that big hit."

Anderson got back to .500 on the season with the win, but more importantly, got a big district win. And maybe even more important, Barnes saw his kids relaxed.

"It was just good to see the kids smiling," he said. "That is the first time I have seen that in a long time."

Anderson Co. 3, Henry Clay 0

The Bearcats prevailed as Conor Cotton went the distance, allowing only three hits as the Bearcats won Saturday in Lexington.

Lucas Durr smacked a double for the Bearcats as they got back over .500 at 6-5.

Franklin Co. 6, Anderson Co. 3

Franklin took advantage of some shaky Anderson defense to record just its second win of the season, a 6-3 win over the host Bearcats Thursday night.

"We have been struggling defensively all along," Barnes said. "Our pitching was good enough to keep us in the game."

Anderson was officially charged with only two errors, but both ended with runs. Anderson pitching also walked three and hit three batters.

"Franklin County threw a real nice pitcher at us and we didn't do anything offensively," Barnes said. "We had just four hits."

Anderson took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first as Durr ripped a two-run single, but the Bearcats could not score again until the seventh.

West Jessamine 8, Anderson 1

West Jessamine pitcher Dakota Greer was nearly perfect against the Bearcats last Tuesday.

Greer gave up just one hit, a swinging bunt by Jake Brown in the third and the Colts took advantage of six Anderson errors to remain unbeaten at 13-0.

Later in the week, West Jessamine dropped a pair of games but Barnes said he believes the Colts are a legitimate Top 10 team statewide.

Greer struck out 11 batters.

Brown was Anderson's only base runner through six innings.

SCOREBOARD

scoreboard, which would cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Sallee, however, said such statements were incorrect. While he confirmed that one business had looked into the possibility, it did not grow into fruition.

"We have had nobody say they would donate a scoreboard," Sallee said.

He added that he had been in contact with a marketing firm from Ohio that specializes in selling sponsorships to pay for scoreboards. Nothing concrete has come from those talks at this time.

Brown and Stockton both said they have contacted members of the Anderson County Board of Education about the baseball team's plight.

"I wish there was much more done for the kids," Stockton said. "It seems like there is so much politics involved."

Brown, however, believes the bottom line is simple. "It is time for a new scoreboard," he said.

LEGAL NOTICES

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

In order to comply with the orders of the Anderson Circuit Court, the Master Commissioner will sell the property described in the following actions on Wednesday, April 24, 2014, at 11:00 a.m. in the Anderson County Courthouse, Lawrenceburg, Kentucky. The property shall be sold to raise the amounts hereinafter set forth, together with interest and the costs of this action, and upon the following terms and conditions (unless otherwise indicated):

(1) At the time of the sale, the successful bidder shall either pay cash or make a deposit of ten percent (10%) of the purchase price, with the balance on credit for thirty (30) days. In the event the successful bidder elects to credit the balance, he or she will be required to post bond and furnish surety acceptable to the Master Commissioner. The bond shall be for the unpaid purchase price and bear interest and the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum until paid in full.

(2) PLEASE NOTE: The real estate SHALL BE SOLD SUBJECT TO ALL city, state, county, and school real estate taxes, whether current or delinquent.

(3) Easements, restrictions, stipulations and agreements of record in the Anderson County Clerk's Office. Assessments for public improvements levied against the property, any facts which an inspection and accurate survey of the property may disclose and any and all planning and zoning regulations imposed upon the subject property

(4) Where the real estate has insurable improvements, the successful bidder shall, at his or her own expense, carry fire and extended coverage insurance on said improvements from the date of sale until the purchase price is fully paid, to the extent of the Court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price, whichever is less, at a minimum, with a loss clause payable to the Master Commissioner or the appropriate Plaintiff. Failure of the successful bidder to effect such insurance shall not affect the validity of the sale or the successful bidder's liability thereunder, but shall entitle, but not require, the Plaintiff(s) to effect said insurance and furnish the policy or evidence thereof to the Master Commissioner, if it so desires, and the premium thereon or the property portion thereof shall be charged to the successful bidder as the successful bidder's cost.

(5) The property shall otherwise be sold free and clear of any right, title and interest of all parties to the action and of their liens and encumbrances thereon excepting easements and restrictions of record in the Anderson County Clerk's Office, and such right of redemption which may exist in favor of the United States of America or the Defendant(s), and any matters disclosed by an accurate survey and

HOROSCOPES

 CAPRICORN
December 22–
January 19

Hooray! The trying times are over, Capricorn, and fun is on the way. Travel plans take shape. Prepare to have a relaxing time with friends and family.

ARIES
March 21–
April 19

Clean and clutter free is your motto this week, Aries. Start with the most neglected areas of your home. A tantalizing offer is too good to be true.

CANCER
June 22–
July 22

Crazy, Cancer. The ideas are flying, but rather than try to implement them all, you might want to weed out the good from the bad. A decision is firm.

LIBRA
September 23
October 22

Ooh-la-la, Libra.
You make a rare find.
Be careful whom you tell. A lapse in communication at home leads to laughter.
Enjoy the moment

AQUARIUS
January 20–
February 18

Press on, Aquarius. There is no obstacle you cannot overcome. A mixup in communication tests patience at home. Work quickly to resolve the situation.

April 20–
May 20

Don't underestimate the value of relaxation. Take time out to reminisce and rejuvenate, Taurus. You will return with a fresh perspective.

July 23–
August 22

Dear friends drop in and out all week long. Roll out the welcome mat, Leo, and be supportive whatever is shared. A movie title catches your eye.

SCORPIO
October 23–
November 21

Your financial outlook improves tremendously, and you are finally in a position to save. Save, Scorpio, not spend. A favor is returned in a big way.

Springtime weather get the creative juices flowing, and several projects come to completion. A friend has a request. Honor it if you can, Pisces.

May 21–
June 21

You throw yourself into everything you do, Gemini. But not everyone works like you. Understand that and be prepared to compensate for any shortcomings that arise.

VIRGO
August 23–
September 22

Direct you are not, Virgo, but direct you must be to resolve a situation once and for all. An article inspires you to take the initiative on a project.

SAGITTARIUS
November 22-
December 21

You are blessed more than you can count this week, Sagittarius. Enjoy. A friend's world is turned upside down by the arrival of someone from their past.
